Dr. Powers Gives Inspiring Messages

We were privileged to have for our annual Benson Lectures our senior general superintendent, Dr. Hardy C. Powers of Dallas, Texas.

Dr. Powers was for eighteen years a pastor and district leader. He took his ministerial training at Pasadena College, California. Later Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa, Idaho, conferred upon him the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree. Dr. Powers accepted his first pastorate at Cucamonga, California. In 1936 he was elected superintendent of the Iowa district and was elected general superintendent in 1944.

These messages were both inspiring and helpful for consistent Christian living. Dr. Powers spoke on the following themes: Monday's lecture was centered on "Andrew," Simon Peter's brother. The dominant thought was the "importance of basic training in Christian Life and Service." On the following day Dr. Powers spoke on "God's Spiritual Man." The thoughts were brought out that man is not spiritual just because he is willing to fight for his position; and emotional reactions do not necessarily make a spiritual man. The genius of the Church of the Nazarene has been to take men from all ranges of temperaments and put them in the place most needed. Dr. Powers designated the marks of the spiritual man as: (1) necessity of being born of the Spirit, (2) being filled with the Holy Spirit, (3) walking in the Spirit, (4) and the real mark is close scrutiny of our affections. Men suffer most at that point where their deepest affection lies. The next day Dr. Powers brought a message on "shattered ideas" which deeply stirred all of us. Speaking from the 32nd chapter of Jeremiah, he instructed us that we must turn our eyes upon Jesus for human ideals would fail. One striking thought was that "a man sees through the eyes of his character." What he is affects what he sees. On Thursday he inspired us with the

Trevecca Tomorrow

The growth of Trevecca Nazarene College depends upon the growth of the church and the growth of the church will depend upon the evangelistic fervor of the students who graduate from Trevecca in the tomorrows. The Church of the Nazarene in the Southeast has increased in number in the past twenty years as no other section in the United States. The membership is now two and one-half times what it was twenty years ago. At the same rate of increase, twenty years from now, we will have approximately 100,000 Nazarenes in Trevecca zone. If the enrollment of Trevecca College should increase during the next twenty years at the same rate it has in the past twenty, it should have 1,000 students. In the past twenty years the income has increased five times. If, in the next twenty years it should have the same rate of increase the annual income of Trevecca College will be $1,000,000. If the college will keep up its evangelistic zeal and will grow, such a church will increase its support of the college and such predictions as are in this column may fall short of the real growth of Trevecca College. God has promised that He will do for us more than we ask or think. May we ask largely in behalf of Trevecca.

Mrs. Mackey Expresses Appreciation

The members of the faculty, administration and student body would like to take this opportunity to express our deep appreciation and heartfelt gratitude to the people of Nashville and our educational zone for the wonderful way in which they have come to our rescue during the emergency caused by the recent fire.

Clothing, bedding, and money have been sent in by many churches and individuals to such an extent that our needs in that direction have been adequately supplied. The spirit of our students has been wonderful and morale was never higher. We are grateful to God for the good Nazarenes of the Southeast and for their interest in and support of Trevecca College. May the Lord's choicest blessings rest upon each one.

—Mrs. A. B. Mackey

Dr. Mackey Presses Building Program

With characteristic faith and optimism Dr. A. B. Mackey leads Trevecca Nazarene College forward in an hour of crisis. Having trusted God in other hours of need and having proved God's power to move mountains of difficulty in behalf of the college that he is giving his life to, President Mackey faces Trevecca's present hour of need with faith that God will stand by us, supply our needs and even use our experience to illumine Romans 8:28.

Immediately following the special Executive Board Meeting to chart Trevecca's rebuilding program, Dr. Mackey was busy pressing architect and contractor into prompt action on beginning construction on the new cafeteria building. Work is already in progress. Dr. Mackey and Rev. C. E. Keys have also been prompt in informing the people of the Southeastern Educational Zone of the Board's decisions and the emergency appeal.

President Mackey will need the prayers and sacrificial support of all Nazarenes of the Southeast as he spearheads the Emergency Fund-Raising Campaign for a goal of $100,000 for a new cafeteria and transformation of McKay Hall, damaged by fire and water. Let us everywhere support Dr. Mackey with fervent prayers and unwavering faith.

Athletic Association Presents Play

"The Hoosier Schoolmaster" a three act comedy, was presented Friday evening, February 26, at 7:30 P.M. in the auditorium of the McClurkan Building. This production was presented by the Trevecca College Athletic Association. "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" is a beloved classic which unfolds the story of Ralph Hartsook, young and inexperienced schoolmaster, in his first teaching position in the "Flat Creek" district of southern Indiana. The cast is as follows: Ole Jack Means, school trustee, Harry Evans. cont. on p. 2

Rise To Emergency

Since the fire disaster of February 3, everyone has been busier than ever, each doing his own particular task but joined together in cooperation with one spirit. Students and faculty rallied together and are now looking toward a more wonderful future for Trevecca. Many are to be commended for their work during this time of disaster.

Dr. Mackey has been an example of trust and fortitude during this time. His speech after the flames were extinguished inspired the weary students to throw off discouragement, believing that "all things work together for good to them that love the Lord." Dr. Mackey is now faithfully working and planning for the new cafeteria building. Mrs. Mackey has worked faithfully to replace the clothing of the girls. She has spent hours of her time distributing clothing and assisting the girls in getting their wardrobes into condition for school again. Mrs. Orndoff has been helping the girls get settled in Tidwell basement as a temporary dormitory. Her attitude and initiative were an inspiration to the girls in the days following the fire as they struggled to find space and their scattered clothing. Mrs. Mingledorf, Bro. Hasty, and Bro. Hill worked hard to make room for the McKay Hall's girls. All of our faculty

CHAPEL BELLS

Ding! Dong! The ringing of the chapel bells have brought assurances to the hearts of T. N. C. students that God is still on the throne. Even though the last few weeks have been filled with trials and adversities because of the cafeteria and dormitory's burning, Trevecca students are not discouraged but are triumphant by a stalwart trust in God. The chapel hours have been filled with inspiring messages. Rev. Duckett brought a stirring message on "Peter," an apostle of hope. Following this Rev. K. W. Phillips made the students sit up and think by asking, "How much like God can we be?" We were privileged to have Dr. L. T. Wells, district superintendent of Kentucky District, bring a message on "The Three Helps to Successful Living." These were: an earnest desire, an honest effort, and cooperation. We have also had other visitors with us. Dr. O. E. Mingledorf, one time missionary to Korea, now in full time evangelism, brought a unique message on "Grit, Grace and Gumption." On the following day we eagerly listened to Dr. McGuire, district superintendent of the Eastern Michigan district. He brought an inspiring message on "Life's Highest Goals." He closed with the statement, "Let's strike out and aim high and take all the country before us until Jesus comes."

members have worked faithfully and we wish to express our appreciation to them. Also a note of thanks should go to the boys who have worked so consistently with the moving and cleaning.

The churches of the city have offered assistance in the emergency. First Church prepared supper for the students the evening of the fire. Friends and pastors all over the city gave room and aid to the girls and contributed clothing and funds for the need. The church of the Nazarene all over the Southeastern Zone has responded to the S. O. S. call of T. N. C. We extend grateful appreciation to everyone for the spirit of cooperation and helpfulness during our emergency.

In the hearts of both faculty and students there has remained a tranquil calm and a consciousness that God is there, giving strength and grace for the trial. "A Mighty Fortress is our God, A bulwark never failing. Our Helper He amid the flood Of mortal ills prevailing."

GLOBAL GLIMPSES

President Eisenhower is quite concerned about the economic situation of today here in our country. For several months people in every walk of life have been wondering whether to expect a depression. There have been several signs which cause one to feel and taste the probability of a depression. One main thing is that unemployment is considerably high right now.

Last week the President said if employment does not rise in March he will consider emergency steps to make sure the country does not drift into a depression. However, it is believed that a demand for workers should pick up then, but it may still be a critical month in the unemployment situation. At a new conference the President said that March should be a key month in determining whether the country actually is in a recession now since employment usually begins to pick up then.

Eisenhower stated that if things develop to the point that a major downturn appears likely he will not hesitate to use every single weapon available to the government to head it off. At the same time the President declared that he did not want to send the government on a wild course of action.

While the President spent a vacation in southern California, Democratic leaders of the Senate have been discussing the Jefferson-Jackson day dinner to be held in Miami, March 6. A trio of Democratic leaders, Senators Johnson, Clements and Russell, the real power behind the scenes, are secretly grooming their own candidate, Missouri's Stuart Symington, for the 1956 Presidential election.

Since Adlai Stevenson, head of the Democratic party, accepted an invitation to head the celebrity list at the dinner the trio seriously considered and debated whether they should attend. They have decided to attend the dinner and make the dinner a great show of unity in the party.

Although the 1956 election is quite a while from now the party is fervently planning now to come back in power then. At present, the party is concentrating on unity and is trying to make the party more powerful before announcing for certain whom they are going to support for the presidency.

Field Representative

Goes Into Action

As soon as the future for Trevecca's emergency re-building program was charted by President Mackey and the Executive Board, Rev. C. E. Keys, our faithful, hard-working Field Representative, began to do in addition to his regular multiple duties a gigantic task in record time. With coat off, sleeves up, he donned a work apron and within hours after officials gave the green light had information, emergency fund posters, special appeal materials printed, packaged, and speeding to every part of the zone with a good chance of having every pastor and church informed up-to-the-minute by the end of that week (Board meeting was on Tuesday Feb. 9.)

The emergency action calls for the building of a new modern cafeteria completely separate from all other buildings, and a transformation of the damaged dormitory inside and out. Pray earnestly for the immediate financial response that our emergency demands. Our needs are urgent and God is able.

Remember to pray for Bro. Keys as he shoulders the added work and responsibility that this emergency has thrown upon him. We know that God and Trevecca can count on him to do his task faithfully and well.

"Robin, my wings are still singed!! I was flying around the campus February 3rd. and I ran into a fire.

Every-one was bustling around trying to get enough water poured on the cafeteria and dormitory to put out the flames. I was so flustered that I flew away thinking dear ole T. N. C. would all go up in smoke. I stayed away two or three days. I just couldn't get up the nerve to return. At last I did however and what do you suppose!! Life was going on as usual around here; everyone was in good spirits and following the usual routine!! Such students! You just can't get them down. They never lose their courage . . . In Public School music class the other day Professor Hammond asked everyone to hum—They all did. Then Winifred Halstead exclaimed, "My teeth are rattling." Prof. Hammond answered, "No, that's my teeth you hear!!! . . . Prof. Howick simply loves to fish but seems to have trouble finding the fish. A friend came to his rescue the other day and sent him a box of pills called "fish finders." A pamphlet inside contained the following instructions:

After arriving at the place on the lake or river where you desire to fish; drop one Chemical Pellet in not less than six feet of water. Watch the spot for change in color; it sometimes takes as long as thirty minutes to change. If a blue spiral rises from the bottom caused by disintegration of the Chemical Pellet to water surface, the location selected should be a good place for Blue Catfish. If the spiral is red you can fish for Red Horse. If it is black try to catch Black Bass. If the spiral is white fish for White Bass. If the spiral is yellow, recommend fishing for Yellow Perch. If the spiral contains all of the above colors it might be profitable to fish for Rainbow Trout.

After determining the type of fish to fish for, all that's necessary is to find the bait the fish are interested in. If you have watched the water for thirty minutes and there has been no change of color whatever, it is a sure sign that there is at least one sucker in the vicinity, and we suggest that you put your fishing tackle away and go snipe hunting.

So, Robin, I suppose that Prof

"Now I Have A Purpose. . . ."

These words rang joyously from the lips of a student as he stood in my office rejoicing that he had found his calling. He had come to a definite assurance that he was called to preach, and had accepted God's will.

"It's so different now . . ." he said, referring to the joy and peace of God in his heart and also to the blessing of having a definite objective in life.

"I do things because I want to, now," he added. Yes, to have all of your education related to a worthwhile and challenging goal does cast a glow over the common place, and touch the hidden springs of motivation.

will be catching plenty of fish in the future with his "fish finder pills" . . . Peggy Hedgecock got a gift from Germany recently. It was a cuckoo clock. That Cuckoo bird has just about driven every one around there cuckoo, too. We'll have to declare war on him. He is getting too much attention . . . Let's go peep in the window to see if he really is cuckoo.

Those birds have gone again but when they take care of that cuckoo bird they'll be back to bring more news and cuckoo views to the tower.

. . . What significant words! You do not feel a special call to full-time Christian work? Just the same there is a worthwhile place in life for you to fill to the glory of God.

Let Professor William H. Howick, our Vocational Guidance counselor, help you find those vocational opportunities best suited for you. When you too can say, "Now I have a purpose," life will be happier and your education more profitable.

High School Choir Makes Appearance

The Trevecca High School Choir made its first appearance of the season Sunday evening February 21, at Bordeaux Church of the Nazarene with Mrs. Keys directing the program.

The first number rendered by the choir, which is made up of approximately thirty members, was the Alma Mater which was very greatly appreciated by everyone present.

Five other numbers were sung: I am Resolved, Glorious Freedom, Raptured Indeed, Faith of Our Fathers, and Nothing But the Blood.

Testimonies from various members of the choir were given between numbers, expressing what the Lord has done for them.

Further plans are underway for the group to present a program at Clarksville First Church in the near future; they also plan to sing with the college A Capella choir later in the spring.

thought of "Sentiment and Principle in Religion." The story of Ruth and Orpha's devotion to Naomi from the book of Ruth was used as a foundation for these thoughts. At the closing lecture Dr. Powers spoke from the 4th chapter of Zakariah bringing out the thought, "Despise not the day of small things." The idea was given that we are in bondage to big things. Some little things are to be condemned, others to be commended. Faith is a small thing which can become larger Mustard-seed faith has vitality. You may have small talent but take what God has given you and do your best for Him.

Evening services were conducted in the College Hill Church. God's presence and blessing was manifest in each service.

All attendance records at TNC ball games have been shattered this season. Fans are beginning to see the full value of a properly supervised, well-rounded sports program and to help promote this are making it a point to attend all the games possible. At the present rate it seems the Athletic Council may have to reserve some seats for the tournament March 9, 10, and 13.

The Hurricanes have lost a valuable player in the loss of their captain, Wayne Rogers. Still their loss won't be as great as people think with the other half of the Wayne combination very surely making a fast break to the headlines of late. Murphy, newly elected captain, recently showed the fans he wasn't playing second fiddle to anyone by scoring 18 points in 16 minutes in a game against the Freshmen.

I recently read an article which, though it was quite a slur to the sports writing profession, impressed me and I want to pass it on to you for what it is worth. The article taken from the Fitzgerald Herald, Fitzgerald, Ga. reads, "Despite great interest now centering on basketball, the nation is passing through a sports lull, and if you don't believe it, read what hard-pressed sports writers are digging up."

Remember this thought when you are at a ball game; Booing a referee lowers yourself, not the official.

Lions Roll Over

Hurricanes 57 - 30

Extending their string of victories to six straight, the first place Sophomores romped over the High School five in Wednesday night's game, winning by a 57 to 30 score.

The Lions, controlling the backboards and hitting a good percentage of their shots, got off to an early lead and was ahead 21 to 8 at the end of the first quarter. The Hurricanes couldn't stop the fast breaking Sophomores and at half-time were behind 14 to 36. The third quarter ended with the Lions ahead 44 to 21. The High School, facing the best defensive quintet in the conference, could never score more than 9 points in any one quarter.

Howard Spruill, hitting frequently with his one hand push shot, led the victors with 17 points. Evans, 6' 3" center for the Lions, accounted for 15. Phillip Rodgers led the losers with 11. Spruill's 17 was high for the game.

Freshmen 64 to 63

In one of the most thrilling games of the season the Eagles, previously having won only one game, were a much improved ball team in upsetting the second place Freshmen Five 64 to 63.

The Eagles led only 16 to 9 at the first quarter stop, but had a 10 point lead at half time. They increased their lead to 13 points at the end of 3 quarters, leading 50 to 37. The Freshmen led by Pate and Godby closed the gap in the final period and were behind only 1 point at the final whistle. Godby missed a foul shot with 5 seconds to go and the Green-Waves failed to tie it up.

It was a hard fought game with 3 Eagles and 2 Frosh fouling out. Both teams finished with only 4 men on the floor.

Heaberlin was the big gun again for the Upperclassmen scoring 28 points. Pate led the losers with 20 points before fouling out.
