SCOTT HOWARD FAMILY RECEIVES RECOGNITION

This Thanksgiving issue of Trev-Echoes is being dedicated to the Scott Howard family. At Thanksgiving time, one always wants to give to someone less fortunate than themselves. Here at Trevecca the students are no exceptions. Trev-Echoes knows of no one who needs to be remembered any more than the Howard family at this time while Raymond is in bed. It will perhaps be the first of the year before Raymond will be up again. In chapel a love offering is to be taken up which will go to the Howards to help on doctor bills.

We all appreciate Mrs. Howard's work as chef of the school and we also appreciate the lives of Mr. Howard, Donna Mae, and Meredith as they mingle with us each day in school.

This Thanksgiving let us breathe a prayer for the Howard family and especially for Raymond. We know that God still answers prayer and can heal his body.

The Staff

Student's Wives Organize A Club

A few weeks ago there appeared a new organization on the campus—the Students' Wives Club.

President: Mrs. Margaret Cook
Vice-Pres.: Mrs. Dorothy Conrad
Secretary: Mrs. Rebecca Tousley
Treasurer: Mrs. Anna Bankston

Sponsor: Miss Amy Person

Membership Committee Chairman:

Mrs. Ada Hurt

Program Committee Chairman:

Mrs. Marie Smih

Refreshment Committee Chairman

Mrs. Emma Strausbaugh

Many of the married men who are attending Trevecca are preparing for the ministry. Most wives do not have the opportunity to attend school as do their husbands. All ministers' wives are expected to do almost anything that needs to be done. They need to know how to conduct missionary society meetings, teach Sunday school, plan programs for special days and numerous other things. The purpose of this organization is to benefit those wives who are not attending school as well as those who are.

The organization plans to study parliamentary law and also exchange helpful ideas for their homes. A regular feature will be the study of the Bible. They plan to have a social each month. There is a good response and interest from many of the students' wives.

Students-Faculty Tonight Celebrate Thanksgiving Time

First student-faculty dinner of this year will take place on Friday night, November 21st in the dining room in McKay Hall. It will begin at 6:00 p.m. and will be over by 7:00 p.m. in order that those who wish to may go to the Gilliam-McNutt wedding at First Church.

The dinner will be a regular Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings. Mrs. Gresham has a special surprise program centering around Thanksgiving.

These dinners were big successes last year and this year should be even better with everyone's help. Remember when the faculty members served? Well, this year there will be other important people serving. You will miss something good if you are not on hand tonight.

Trevecca's Dream Alas! It Arrived A Baldwin Piano

Has anyone seen a "lost chord?" No, thanks to Professor Irwin's persistency we do not have to worry about that any more for many years to come.

A week ago yesterday a beautiful, new, nine-foot, Baldwin, concert grand, ebony-finished piano was ushered into the auditorium. There it nestled down on its legs to be seen and not heard. Oh I mean, to be seen and heard. Speaking of being heard, the very presence of this new member to our school brings a lift to our spirits.

This masterpiece is worth, and would have regularly sold for, $4800. Thanks to the overwhelming personality of our music director, the price was reduced to the unbelievably low price of $2,000.

The piano is new except for having been played by three or four concert artists, including Jose Iturbi, who only performs on Baldwin pianos.

John Maurice was heard asking some students this question: "Have you seen our new hairless piano? It's a Bald-win."

Because of the addition of this wonderful instrument to the institution, the chapel services have improved greatly and will continue to do so in years to come.

What do you say that we invite Jose Iturbi out for a concert in the near future? I'm sure he would feel at ease at the keyboard of "our" Baldwin.

A dedication service will be held sometime before Christmas.

Today's The Day

The faculty advisory committee divided a plan to help the students select their subjects. About three weeks before registration for the next quarter, each student is given a trial schedule sheet which he fills out with the help of the catalog, or if he is not sure what to take, he is assisted by one of the faculty. (The latter is best if one is not familiar with school requirements) The advisor takes every thing into consideration—your major and minor, if you are just taking a special course, if you are only going two years, or if you are a ministerial student. After clearing that up, he writes in the necessary classes and adds up the hours. An average load is sixteen hours. Another discouraging fact is in schedule arrangement. Both psychology and American history cannot be taken at 10 o'clock, three days a week. Well? Dr. Gresham will fix it.

Can't you just see Miss Person and Dr. Gresham tearing their hair and crying over all the work this causes them just so we can get through that long registration day sooner? After we leave for the Christmas holidays, they will be working on all the schedules. Last summer they had a longer time to work on the fall schedules than they will on the winter ones.

Trial schedules are available now and if you haven't already filled out your sheet, do so at once. This will enable the committee to have every worry aside so that they also may enjoy a lovely Christmas dinner. Schedules are due the 21st. Remember! That's today!

A Cappella Voices Are Now Training

The a cappella choir practiced for the first time Thursday evening, November 13th and will make their first appearance tonight. Professor Irwin says that the group shows good possibilities and they respond well.

Sopranos: Ramona Burkes, Ruth Daugherty, Vernette Gullett, Caroline Hall, Mrs. Vera Hammond, Rosalyn Hendershot, Ruth Toops, Annabel Ward, and Mildred Pittman. Altos: Mrs. June Bowes, Adeline Boyer, Lois Calkins, Grace Eby, Charlotte Hampton, Marie Peery, Faye Ihrig, Pauline Taylor, Mrs. Martha Gresham, and Miss Madeline Paschall. Tenors: Billy Anderson, Homer Benson, Ray Dunning, Harvey Harris, Loyd Harrison, Orman Marsh, Charles Parker, and Wallace Thompson. Basses: Rodger Atwood, Don Conrad, Harry Carpenter, Charles Phipps, David Songer, Brock Speer, Herman Slonecker, and James Tate.

A THANKSGIVING MESSAGE COMES FROM THE PAST, "I AM A PILGRIM"

In November, 1620, I came to the bleak, wild shores of New England and with my family wrung a livelihood out of the forest and sea. I came because I wanted freedom to worship God in my own way and to bring up my children according to my own ideals. Many of us died in the struggle with the climate, the wilderness, and the Indians in that first terrible winter, but the rest of us fought on. We planted seeds in the rocky soil, and felled trees to build our homes and our churches... but most of all we built men, new citizens in a world that was to become America.

Our moral code was harsh and ourselves free men because we ourselves framed these laws and codes of our own violation. We had cast off the yolk of dictatorial royalty forever. What we did, we did for our own good and the good of those who were to continue in our places after we had gone. But the most important liberty we enjoyed was freedom to worship as we pleased.

Here, in the New World that we wrested from the wilderness, there was no tyrant to force us to his will. Our minds and our souls were our own.

One Year Past

When the first year of our lives in the New World came to a close, we looked back at the past and gave thanks to God for the blessings of freedom He had allowed us to enjoy, for the good things He had caused the earth to yield, and for His care and watchfulness over us. Governor Bradford proclaimed a Day of Thanksgiving and we humbly and silently bowed our heads in deep and reverent prayer.

We did not have much of the material things of life, but we had something far more precious—our freedom, which has become your heritage—the greatest democracy in the world.

Growth Is Rapid

We found and left in the care of all future generations a land full of natural resources. We expected our America to grow and she did grow, rapidly and fruitfully, far surpassing our greatest expectations. Our "Mayflower Compact" which we drew up even before we reached America was replaced by the United States Constitution with its Bill of Rights. Our crude means of transportation grew to the streamlined trains and airplanes of your time. Our one small colony grew to forty-eight great states and many outlying possessions.

We left our homes and settled in America in order that we might have religious freedom. Each future generation must remember that and take advantage of this heritage and continue to worship our God if our country is to survive. It is left for you to guard and protect her, to make her continue to grow and never forget to give Thanksgiving to God for giving us our America.

Russell V. DeLong Spoke In Chapel Founder's Day

"I did not know what kind of an atmosphere I was coming to this morning—whether it would be formal or what. But it seems like a campmeeting service," was Dr. Russell V. DeLong's opening remarks before his Founder's Day message delivered in chapel on Friday, November 4th.

We learned from Dr. DeLong that a college is a group of old buildings with ivy climbing up the outside and the faculty creeping around on the inside.

Using the second chapter of II Kings as a scripture basis, he compared J. O. McClurkan, founder of Trevecca, and the present students of the school, to Elijah and Elisha. "Give me a double portion of thy spirit."

Ten outstanding facts about Brother McClurkan's life, four of his strongest beliefs, and thirteen attributive characteristics of Trevecca today, composed the most of Dr. DeLong's text.

Professor Irwin sang a solo and a men's quartet also rendered a song during the program.

Four were present who had sat under the teaching of Brother McClurkan in days past. They were Rev. Cashdollar, Mrs. Dean, Rev. Bobby Sullivan, and Mr. Hayes.

What just woke me up? Oh, Yes! It's that gang of Trevecca reporters trying to get four hundred subscriptions. Listen gals and guys—that is a "must". So get behind your school paper. In the midst of all the rush and excitement of seeing what size shoes everyone wore, I noted exciting events taking place.

I found the best way to become educated is to listen with both ears, keep you chin up—all three of them—and keep both your teeth inside your mouth.

Have you seen the latest? No? Well, look again. It's Ruth Daugherty and Loyd Harrison. Maybe they're getting up quite a case.

Oh, my goodness, oh, my goodness! Did Nile West propose to Miss Paschall or were they discussing something else? You've got me, bud.

Orchids to Ed and Belle, for keeping the "old spark" burning. 'Reckon They'll end up getting hitched?

Onions to Ollie McCaskell for taking Charlie Horne's girl. I don't blame you, Ollie. Janice is quite a sensation.

Nuts to Wally for putting a mouse in Robert's unmade bed.

Did you hear about the "haunted handkerchief"? Children, they found a booger in it!

ATTENTION GIRLS: If your feller calls you a peach, consider it as a definite insult because in botany I learned that a peach was a "droop" fruit.

Bob Griffith is parting his hair in the middle. Had you noticed?

Do we have a doctor in the crowd? Nope, but Norman Savage gives good massages. Ask George Cocoris about it.

Wonder what kind of a cat scratched Charles Armour's arm?

Betty Gay Bias is a cute little fixture, don't you think?

I heard that Marion Lumpkin fell for Lucina McCoy (fell off the bench at Bordeaux Church).

Margie Ellis from South Carolina visited here last week end. I asked what her ambition was and she replied that she had planned to be a doctor, but—Norman Savage, you're a lucky guy!

Be good and gooder and goodest. Anyway, don't let the dean catch you if you ain't.

As the Faculty Sees It

Wishes, however earnest, do not of necessity bring with them the thing wished for. There is an old proverb which says, "Wishers and woulders make bad housekeepers;" and another which declares, "Wishing never filled a sack."

Balaam, in the book of Numbers said, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like this!" He had seen men die; he had heard of the deaths of Abraham and Isaac in the other days; and he knew how the righteous die. Someone has said, "The righteous man goes to the death chamber with a quiet conscience." The believer dies in the arm of a friend. He dies with a good hope and he dies with honor.

Balaam's wish is a very common one, both in its nature and in its fruitlessness. Men differ in the course of life they prefer, and in their ways of excusing their vices to themselves, yet all agree in the one thing, desiring to die the death of the righteous. If hungry, a wish won't give you bread; or, if thirsty, a wish won't quench your thirst; or, if dying, a wish won't bring back health to your pale cheek and faded eye, Yet a wish may be a good beginning that leads to eternal life.

Have you wished for easy tests, good grades, a transcript you'll take pride in showing your friends, or other honors that come as a result of hard work? Make this wish come true. Plan your work, work your plans, cooperate with your teachers and do more than the minimum assignment. This elevated thought and momentary aspiration will become a real abiding work. Your wish-bud will blossom and bring forth much fruit to the enjoyment of all.

C. T. Duckett.

WE THANK THEE

Father, we thank Thee:
 For peace within our favored land,
 For plenty from Thy bounteous hand,
 For means to give to those in need,
 For grace to help in thought and deed,
 For faith to walk, our hand in Thine
 For truth to know Thy law divine,
 For strength to work with voice and pen,
 For love to serve our fellow men,
 For light the goal ahead to see,
 For life to use alone for Thee,
 Father, we thank Thee.

THANKSGIVING

That first Thanksgiving Day came in 1621 in the midst of intense trial and deprivation. Yet a handful of people took their eyes off of their troubles and raised them in humble thanks to God for the things that they did have which made their struggle worthwhile. They arose stronger and freer than they had ever been before... ready to carry on, come what may, for they had found that their blessings which they had been overlooking and taking for granted far outweighed their troubles.

ROVING REPORTER

by Billie and Mabel

Do you smell turkey roasting? I'll bet it's crammed-full of dressing. Say, don't I smell mashed potatoes steaming? Well, you know the rest that goes with an American Thanksgiving Day dinner. Your mouth is watering right now at the very thought of it, so I won't torture you any longer.

Mabel: "Here comes the taxi we called, Billie. Take us to the Greyhound Bus station, driver."

Billie: (Whiz!!!) "What was that Mabel? Oh it's George Pitzer's car loaded down with Nile West, Harry Carpenter, 'Chuck' Haney, and of course, Irene. That's Norman and Jimmy Sites in the back seat too, isn't it?"

Mabel: "Oh, there goes my roommate with her one suitcase. Geneva, don't forget to take your pills and tell your mother to think of me while she is eating."

Billie: "I heard Polly Taylor had an invitation to spend Thanksgiving in Texas. Did you hear whether he is a blonde or brunette?"

Mabel: "No, I didn't, but I wonder why Ollie McCaskell can't make up his mind between Janice Gullett and Polly Bumpus? He seems to be getting quite a bit of competition from Bruce Roberts, doesn't he? I wonder if Ollie is spending the holidays in Kentucky or Alabama."

Billie: "You're guess is as good as mine. I saw Neva Gay and Harold 'on the outs' the other day, but surely they are back together by now."

Mabel: "Hey, Billie, did you hear about the speech 'Chick' Robertson made in speech class the other day? She said that the reason the sun never sets on Trevecca students is that Mrs. Murphy gets them in before the sun goes down."

Billie: "By the way, Mabel, have you heard about the dieting trio? It is composed of Wilma Lobb, Juanita Eby, and Esther Odum."

Driver: "What color are they gonna' dye it?"

Mabel: "Oh, you don't catch it. We mean they're trying to lose weight. You know, Billie, I heard someone say the other day that Virginia Griggs and Bob McClain make the 'gruesome twosome' of the campus."

Billie: "That's not news! Have you heard about the latest couple? It's Dorothy Williams and Carl Smithson. Why, I even saw him helping her down the hill a minute ago as we were leaving the school. I suppose they were on their way to catch the Franklin bus for the holidays."

Mabel: "Don't let this out, Billie, but Robert Gray and Sarah Spruill didn't get home until after 10:30 a week ago Friday night. Could they have been courting by candle light?"

Billie: "I guess Jimmy Crossman was thrilled the week end that Doris Jewell went to Memphis to see him."

Driver: "Did you say you wanted to go to Memphis?"

Billie: "No, we were talking about a girl out at school that went there for a visit one week end."

Mabel: "Well, there's no use mentioning Memphis now, here we are at the bus station. Oh, there's Ed Holman. I wonder where Mary Joyce is? Oh, that's right! He's from Mississippi and she's from Georgia. Of course they wouldn't ride the same bus."

Billie: "By the way, Mabel, did you see Jimmy Pittman pass on Lafayette Street in a taxi headed for the train station? You know, he is spending the holidays with Lois at Asbury College."

Mabel: "Yes, he told me he was, and I remember seeing Shirley Van Luven and Mickey Gordon pass us in the airport cab."

Billie: "There's 'Shorty' Bardwell. I see he is headed toward the Indiana bus."

Mabel: "Oh, Billie, there's your bus. I hope you have a real nice time. Don't eat too much. If so, try some 'sodie' water."

Billie: "O.K. Bye. I'll see you Monday."

Mabel: Now, since all the kids are gone, maybe I can get some much needed sleep. At least I can catch 40 winks.

I sure hope that as the students are enjoying their Thanksgiving dinners, they won't forget to be thankful for God's goodness and blessings to them, and not forget to pray for those who are less fortunate. Oh, taxi! taxi! Take me to Trevecca College, driver!"

How many of us are waiting for the opportunity to do some great thing for the betterment of our community, forgetting that the solution of the problem requires only the active intelligent fulfillment of individual civic duty. The only things which are wrong about our government are the things which are wrong with you and me. Democracy is never a thing done; it is and always will be a goal to be achieved. It means action, not passive acquiescence in things as they are; it requires alertness to duty, a dynamic faith, a willingness to give for the good of all. It can live only as a result of loyalty and devotion to its principles expressed by daily deed."—Douglas L. Edmonds.

One Side Must Win—Whose Will?

EVENS DETERMINE TO WIN

Not too much enthusiasm has been manifested on our side of the contest, but I know it's as much as the other side has.

As most of you know, Trev-Echoes has a contest going on until December 1 to get subscriptions. The student body is divided into two sides according to the size shoe they wear. Those wearing odd sizes are on Ray Dunning's side. Those wearing even sizes are on my side. All half sizes are dropped.

Now all of you know which side you are on, so let's get busy and bring the subscriptions in. If you need any more blanks, see anyone on the Trev-Echoes staff.

We do not have long to work, but watch out, Ray. I fear you are going to have less money than you did pretty soon.—Billie Edwards, Captain.

GREEN FROSH WIN 6-0 by Ray Dunning

One of the most evenly fought games of the year was played by the college juniors and the green freshman teams. The first half was played mostly in the frosh territory while the second half saw more action on the junior side.

The only score of the game came on the second play from scrimmage after the juniors kicked off in the second half. McCaskell passed to Carpenter on the junior 30 and he galloped around the safety man for the marker. McCaskell's attempt for the extra point was no good.

Frosh	Juniors

skimp sketch

She's a sweet little gal and she hails from West Virginia. Her hair is brown and her eyes match perfectly well. In height she ranges about five feet and five inches. Her age? She's eighteen years old and her birthday is June 30th.

Her earliest recollection in school was when she was in the first grade. They had a fire drill and while they were outside, a little boy stole her crayons. Could she be getting revenge by capturing a heart?

Her ambition is to be what God wants her to be, so therefore she is fulfilling her call as a missionary to Africa.

Good luck to her and may God's blessings follow her throughout her life is our prayer.

ODDS SEE TIME FLYING

'Twas the morning after the contest ended

And all odd-size shoe wearers Were bemoaning the fact That they had neglected to work

And with all their friends make contact.

Now their chance was over And they had to grandly entertain

While within they all said, "I wish I was dead."

If you folks do not "get on the beam" and start writing home for subscriptions, we are going to lose this contest. Then we sure will be sorry we did not work harder for we will have to entertain that other bunch.

If you wear a size 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11, or 13 and have not registered, please see your captain and let him check your name. Then help us win by selling Trev-Echoes subscriptions. If you are in need of some blanks, you can get all you need. "I hope you need 'a plenty."—Ray Dunning, Captain.

REDS MARCH ON

Going on to number 3 game in their schedule, the high school Reds marched triumphantly over the college seniors 13-0 on November 11th. Usually good passing plays of the upperclass boys failed to click in this game, for somehow they could not protect their passer. Chambers had no time to pick his receivers. Those Red linemen, Stanley and Cain, were in there every time.

The first Red score came when Gordon faked an end run which pulled defensive backfieldmen up to stop him. This left Anderson clear to receive a pass, and Gordon hurled a nice one into his arms for the talley. The other touchdown came when Anderson intercepted a pass juggled by senior end, Wiggs. The point was added when Cain split the uprights, making—incidentally—the first Conversion of its kind for the season.

High School Reds Beat Juniors 6-2

On a sea of mud, with hardly anyone being able to keep his footing, the high school red team barely triumphed over the college juniors Nov. 4. Amid occasional showers of rain they battled a scoreless game until the closing minutes of the last quarter when the juniors punted to the opposite one-yard line. On an attempted kick, Billy Anderson fumbled the slick ball and was caught behind his own goal for 2 points. Taking the ball on their own twenty, Anderson kicked for the Reds to the opposite 5 on a beautiful 60 yd. punt. Hawkins couldn't hold the ball and a high school player recovered. On the last play of the game, Anderson threw a pass in the dark, and I do mean dark, for you could hardly see the ball—and Andy Benson desperately clutched the pass with three junior players practically around his neck for a touchdown. Thus came the lone touchdown that clinched the Red's victory.

There was once a negro sitting by the side of the road and another negro walked up and said, "Whatfore yo' doin' there, Rastus?"

"I's pickin' 'rithmetic bugs off my pants."

"Whatfore yo' call them 'rithmetic bugs?"

"Well, they adds to my misery, divides my attention, subtracts from my pleasure, and multiplies by the thousands."

"I like work; it fascinates me. I can sit and look at it for hours."—Jerome K. Jerome.

SOPHS MARK UP ANOTHER

College seniors lost their place in the ranks of the unbeaten November 6th when they suffered a loss at the hands of the sophomores.

From the kick-off the sophos were in there battling. Twice they found openings in the first period and shot over for touchdowns, both on passes. Haney, soph halfback, took a 12-yard pass from Brown and streaked 45 yards for the first one. Another pass from Brown, this time to Smithson, made the second score.

Then the seniors got in the ball game and the going became tough. However, another aerial from Tuggle to Steele gave the sophos six more points before the half ended.

In the final period the seniors put on a combination pass and running attack which took them to the soph 5. One play later they scored on an aerial from Chambers to Strasbaugh. The game ended 18-6.

BLUE FROSH STAY ON TOP

Their third win was chalked up November 7th when the Blue Frosh continued on their undefeated march. This time they downed the high school Gold, 6-0.

Most of the battle was nip and tuck with neither team able to gain. But the Blues did find an opening, however, in the second period. This opening came when Philemon, high school back, stood deep in his own territory to punt. The pass from center was over his head and rolled to the 2-yd line. Then the freshmen took over and two plays later scored through the air on Slonecker's pass to Lumpkin.

An outstanding feature of the game was the hard consistent blocking by Dillon.

Student Directory May Be Ordered

At last another dream is about to come true! Do you know what it is? Well, guess anyway. That's right and you guessed it with the first guess. This dream is the Student Directory which contains a list of the names, home addresses, and school classification of each student enrolled in Trevecca for the first quarter of the school year of 1947-48.

There have been many times when the students have wished for the addresses of their friends but it has only been a wish. We have now made it possible for this wish to come true. The directory sells for seventy-five cents (.75) and you can buy yours from any member of the Trev-Echoes staff. It is now in the process of being completed. You may be able to have yours in plenty of time to use as a help in making out your Christmas Card list.

Several of the students and faculty have expressed what they think about this addition to our school life and school publications. Their opinions are as follows:

Dr. Gresham: "It is an important contribution to Trevecca College which shows that it is growing collegiately."

Genevieve McMacken: "I like it and I think it is one of the best things of the year. (It is a fine thing for old maids)."

Thelma Street: "It is a means of keeping in touch with our friends even after they leave Trevecca. It also gives us a good list to consider in sending our Christmas cards."

Larry Adams: "Although I have not yet seen it I believe we all should have one. I want one so I can keep in contact with the students down through the years."

Lovie Pennycuff: "I think the student directory is one of those things which goes to make the school more complete. Buy, try it, and I know you'll like it."

Minta Zell Akers: "I think it is a swell idea and should have been thought of long ago. Sure, I want one and I am going to get one."

Helen Allen: "It will help us to know where the students live and maybe some day we will want to drop them a line."

Grant Browning: "It will have my name in it and a lot of the girls can write me. That's why I like it."

Milton Gordon: "It is a good idea and I think it will come in handy when you want to look back on your old friends."

John Chandler: "One reason I like it is because I never want to forget my friends and associates here. I will probably want to correspond with some of them in the future. As a minister going out into the work I'll want to be slating singers and evangelists for revivals, and I know of no better place to find consecrated workers than here at Trevecca."

M. E. Perkins: "It will enable the students to keep in better contact. It will also give the faculty a quick access to the students' addresses."

McNARON WRITES HOME

Here are a few lines taken from a letter of Merle McNaron's, a former student in Trevecca:

"I want you to give this money order to Trev-Echoes and tell them to send all my papers air mail. There's more than enough money to cover it. If they aren't making any more money now than they used to they'll need the donation. (The money order was for $2.75). I've gotten the first two issues from Mary Ruth and I like it as well as ever. It's funny how Trevecca can get into your blood. I don't get excited when I think of going home, but I do when I think of going back to school at Trevecca."

Merle is now in the army in Augsburg, Germany. Next year he will be back here in school and he will be a college freshman. He was a good student when he was here—"Not too serious, not too gay, just a good fellow in every sort of way." We are looking forward to having him back next year.

Even though Merle is in Germany he is still interested in the progress of our school—and his school. He is also interested in Trev-Echoes (his was one of the first subscriptions we got this year). More of us should follow his example and get all the subscriptions to Trev-Echoes that we can.

W. VA. HAVE OUTING

The West Virginia Club went on an outing at the McCade Memorial Park on Thursday, November 6th. At four o'clock the crowd gathered and was on its way to the bus line. Miss Madelyn Paschall went along as chaperon in the absence of Professor Hammond, sponsor. What a time riding the bus! It was so crowded that some had to take another one. By the time we got to the park, it was getting dark, but we played a few games. Miss Paschall did quite a bit of running. Ha! I wonder who she was chasing? Next we had a Bible quiz. At last our cooks, Carl Gray and Rosaleen Adkins, yelled, "Come and get it!" I'm sure everyone enjoyed those hamburgers and pop. When everyone had finished eating, we started home. The outing went over swell with everyone enjoying themselves.

Sophs Recall Pearl Harbor

Pearl Harbor Day, December 7th, will be commemorated by the college sophomore class. In their literary program on Friday night, December 5th, members of the class will give appropriate readings and songs for the Revolutionary War, War of 1812, Mexican War, Civil War, Spanish-American War, World War I, and World War II.

The scenery and background for the program will be somewhat different from anything that has been used recently in programs.

FUN FOR YOU SAYS JOY LOU

Hey! Something new has been added. What? You mean you haven't heard? Where were you when we met Thursday night in the cafeteria? You just should have been there. Recreation will be in the dining hall every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday from 6 until 7 o'clock. Clarabelle, Chick, Buelah, Mary and I had charge of the games the other night. Wait, I am getting ahead of myself. I forgot, I'm so excited.

Devotion was sweet as Chick read the entire thirteenth chapter of first Corinthians. Janice Gullett led us in choruses as Nile West played the piano. Then as the group stood reverently, Christine Jenkins prayed for us. We felt the presence of God there and we appreciated the Christian fellowship together. We were honored by a special song by the Lobb sisters.

Then the games were started. We played cross-questions and silly answers. Just ask Becky Grayson this: "What's wrong with your face?" Her answer will be that she ran out of gas.

Mabel Carr gave us a reading about her voice, but her trouble really wasn't her voice, but her nose. Ask her about it.

We concluded our game session by playing fruit basket upset. At five minutes until seven, we were really upset. The big reason being that it was time to study.

Really, I think we all can study better with a little recreation first, don't you? Of course, I knew you would say "yes"!

One day a colored boy called up a colored gal and said, "Listen here, honey. Will you marry me?" "Yes, suh, honey!!" she replied, "but who is yo' anyway?"

DR. A.K. BRACKEN, Pastor

CHAPEL LISTENS TO:

Professor C. T. Duckett, newest member of the faculty, Dr. A. B. Mackey, Dr. L. P. Gresham, Rev. Carl Brown, pastor at Old Hickory, and Dr. Russell V. DeLong were speakers in chapel during the week of November 10-14.

Dr. DeLong, president of the Nazarene Theological Seminary was the guest speaker on Founder's Day. As Dr. DeLong said, "We need more workers for God with the willingness and zeal for God as J. O. McClurkan had, the founder of our school," many students resolved in their hearts to try and be more like a soul winner for God as the founder of the school was. In conclusion, Dr. DeLong left the statement, "Keep the glory of God ever so strong in our lives."

P.S. Every student was very happy to see the new piano in the auditorium Friday a.m. and I believe J. D. Irwin, the music director, was just as happy, if not more so.—L.M.C.

FRUIT CAKE CODE— SOLVED? UNSOLVED?

Frank Tuggle, president of the sophomore class, presented Thursday a.m., November 6th to Lillie Mae Calkins, freshman president, the code which will lead to the finding of the fruit cake.

This tradition of the school is that every year the college sophomore class make up a code of symbols of all sizes, shapes, and kinds in a jumbled form and give it to the college freshmen to solve before a certain date. If the code is solved this year before March 31st, the sophomores must entertain the freshmen. But—if the freshmen fail to solve the code, they must entertain the sophomores. So—it's a big hope that the freshmen solve it, since the writer of this article is a freshman.

Scarritt Chapel Hears Greathouse

Several Trevecca students' hearts swelled with pride as they heard words similar to these coming from the platform in Scarritt College chapel last Thursday morning, November 13th: "We are indeed happy to have speak to us today a minister in the Nazarene Church. The Reverend Mr. William Greathouse is a graduate of Vanderbilt University and is present pastor of Immanuel Church of the Nazarene and a professor at Trevecca College."

Professor Greathouse read Hosea 6:6 and used as a theme Knowledge of God. In his message of the hour he stated that if we sense God's presence and love and if we do have a knowledge of God, there will be a response. We will put our trust in Him, keep his commandments, have love for our fellowmen, share with God and others, and work with God.

"We know God only as we live in perfect obedience to His will," and "We must know God if we present properly the message to the world that we ministers have been called to give forth," were outstanding statements that Professor Greathouse made that day.

Yarn Fascinates Home Ec. Girls

"A knitting, and 'a knitting, and 'a knitting." Caroline Hall's popular reading expresses the happenings in Mrs. Ferne Shelton's high school home economics class these days. The girls are crocheting Dutch hats and fascinators, tatting, knitting, and embroidering. Some have volunteered to make articles for girls outside the class who will purchase the yarn.

These young girls are also learning to cook. Experience is a great teacher.
